

READING ONLINE SPORT ECONOMICS SEMINARS: CALL FOR PAPERS

We present an online series of sport economics seminars, organised by the University of Reading. Seminars take place 2:30-4pm, UK time (GMT+1), on Microsoft Teams.

Scholars are invited to present research in the area of sport economics. Talks are currently scheduled until June 19, and June 26-30 will be the North American Association of Sports Economists (NAASE) Online Conference.

We invite submissions to present in the ten weeks between July 3 to September 4 (July 3, 10, 17, 24, 31, August 7, 14, 21, 28, Sept 4).

If you would like to present, submit a title and abstract via this form by the end of May 31: <https://forms.gle/SGEsLVyFw3CXVnqy9>

Past seminars: March 27 James Reade (Reading), <https://youtu.be/HSRkNI0G3dg>, April 3 Alex Krumer (Molde), <https://youtu.be/5Do6kdrN1w8>, April 17 Stefan Szymanski (Michigan), <https://youtu.be/viPqe93rW2c>, April 24 Bernd Frick (Paderborn), <https://youtu.be/VvsprS0Z9rQ>

Forthcoming seminars: May 1 Ruud Koning (Groningen), May 8 Dennis Coates (Maryland), May 15 Jorge A. Tovar (Wisconsin/Bogota), May 22 Jamin Speer (Memphis), May 29 Johan Rewilak (Aston), June 5 Brad Humphreys (West Virginia), June 12 David Ong (Jinan/Birmingham), June 19 Daniel Torchia (Turin).

See here for more information about the Department of Economics: <https://research.reading.ac.uk/economics/> and the Football Economics Research Group: <https://research.reading.ac.uk/football-research/>