

DEPARTMENTAL SEMINARS

Semester 1

- 30 Sep Michael Byrne (University of St. Andrews)
Daily temperature distributions over a range of climate states
- 7 Oct Jiuwei Zhao (Nanjing university of information science & technology, China)
Pacific warming pattern diversity in models and the consequent projections on tropical cyclone activity
- 14 Oct Matthew Kasoar (Imperial College London)
A negative feedback on El Niño events caused by extreme fire activity in equatorial Asia
- 21 Oct Cancelled
- 28 Oct Cyril Morcrette (Met Office)
Cloud-resolving model machine learning (“Caramel”)
- 4 Nov Declan Finney (University of Leeds)
Observations and modelling from the Deep Convective Microphysics Experiment (DCMEX) with a focus on anvil cloud radiative effect
- 11 Nov Mark Hammond (University of Oxford)
TBD
- 18 Nov Judah Cohen (Atmospheric and Environmental Research, USA)
Mid-latitude cold extremes during the recent period of Arctic amplification
- 25 Nov Ying Chen (University of Birmingham)
Observational evidence of strong aerosol fingerprints on clouds and effect on radiative forcing
- 2 Dec Ian Hembrow (University of Oxford)
Celsius – A Life And Death By Degrees
Sweden’s Enlightenment genius and his lessons for a world in crisis
- 9 Dec Kalli Furtado (Centre for Climate Research Singapore, Singapore)
TBD
- 16 Dec Puxi Li (Chinese Academy of Meteorological Sciences, China)
Intensification of mesoscale convective systems in the East Asian rainband over the past two decades
